

Community Update: Win, Win, Win! June 19, 2013

Bottom: LCS Varsity Boys Soccer team; Deacon Moynihan poses in front of a newly painted Providence College mural on campus with Volunteers Tara Kingsley (PC 2012) and Kaitlyn Guzik (PC 2010), along with Patrick Faustin, LCS Head of Maintenance; Board member Mark Bamford, who spent his first week in Haiti for graduation, talks with former Volunteer Kate McDodson during graduation festivities.*

What a final week! The 2012-2013 school year ended with a bang!

Leading into graduation, Louverture Cleary Varsity Boys Soccer beat Saint Louis de Gonzague (SLG) 2-0 in a friendship match. This was a first for LCS. Last year, LCS finished second to SLG in SLG's city-wide tournament. A healthy rivalry has been established.

On Friday, work began on the Providence College Mural that now adorns the wall financed and partially poured by PC students who made a trip to Haiti this May. The PC and THP connection is growing and fruitful! We are proud to be a Friar supporter.

This year's graduation was the largest ever – yet it was also the most organized.

Haiti Director of Operations Esther Paul and LCS Dean of Academics Marjorie Mombrun are simply amazing. Esther, Marjorie, and the cooks put on a wonderful day for over 450 people!

It has been a great year. We appreciate your support in making it possible. I look forward to resuming our weekly updates on August 21st – one day after Christina and I will celebrate our 25th Wedding Anniversary!

Peace, Patrick
