to the next person.

Altar servers may resume. The use of holy water fonts may resume. The use of long-handled collection baskets held by ushers may resume. Otherwise, we recommend parishes continue the use of a centrally-located collection basket for envelopes to be deposited. Weekly bulletins may be distributed by ushers.

Continue to refrain from the Sign of Peace.

Cleaning, disinfecting and sanitizing

Rigorous cleaning and disinfecting of our churches and offices has become the rule and, while the state no longer requires a heightened vigilance for sanitary surfaces, the diocesan guidelines have developed into good habits.

Thus, while heightened cleaning and disinfecting is no longer required, everyone is urged to continue to take advantage of these good habits to clean surfaces regularly as a preventative measure.

Parishes and schools should continue to make hand sanitizer available for employees, parishioners, and visitors in churches and offices.

Food

Parish and school kitchens may resume operations without restrictions. Food consumption is permitted at all gatherings and activities without restrictions.

Food may be brought from home for consumption on parish premises or at diocesan facilities such as for bake sales and funeral luncheons.
